

AYUSHI JOSHI

(+33) 7 80 82 36 37
Paris, France - open to relocation
Availability: Can join immediately

Ayushi.joshi1975@gmail.com / LinkedIn
Preferred type of contract: CDI
International MBA Graduate- Audencia

PROFILE SUMMARY

Business & Marketing Professional with 5 years' experience turning market insight into GTM strategy, positioning, and revenue impact across FMCG, consumer apps, and B2B SaaS, working with brands including Samsung, Amazon, Lakmé, and Cadbury. Proven track record in AI-powered market and competitor analysis, ICP and persona definition, and KPI-driven optimisation of campaigns and funnels to improve MQL conversion, product adoption, and pipeline influence. Skilled at partnering with Sales, Growth, and Operations to craft value propositions, launch and scale products across digital channels, and lead small cross-functional teams to deliver measurable outcomes for C-level stakeholders.

Core Competencies: GTM Strategy & Product Launch Management | Product Positioning | ICP Definition & Buyer Persona Segmentation | Value Proposition Development & Storytelling | Competitor Analysis & Market Intelligence | Product-Led Growth & Adoption Strategy | Project Management | Cross-Functional GTM Alignment | Campaign Performance Analytics & KPI Optimization | Market Research | Executive Communication & C-Suite Positioning | Content Strategy

EDUCATION

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Audencia Business School, Nantes, FranceTop 10 business schools in France, Triple-accredited, Global Ranking- 77 by Financial TimesCourse includes Consulting Mission: focusing on real-world business problem-solving | International MBA, 2024 - 2025 |
| Indira Gandhi National Open University, India                                                                                                                                                                                                | BA History Hons, 2017 - 2020   |

WORK EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                         |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Business Operations &amp; Marketing Assistant at WEMOOVE, Internship   Paris, France                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Oct 25 - Jan 26  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Improved marketing-qualified lead conversion by 18% by developing ICP frameworks and refining value-based messaging across 3 vertical segments, achieved through collaboration with the CEO on product positioning and market segmentation strategy</li><li>Led online customer engagement and sales conversion by 34% by executing a 360° digital transformation, revamping brand identity, restructuring product listings on Amazon, and implementing AI chatbots</li><li>Generated 10 new B2B leads and expanded addressable market by spearheading strategic partnerships in French/Swiss markets, negotiating high-value co-marketing deals and revamped joint value propositions</li></ul> |                         |
| Marketing Consultant, Convosight Analytics Pvt. Ltd, Full time   India                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Nov 21 - Sept 24 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Executed integrated marketing campaigns for 50+ global brands, driving organic brand awareness, product mentions, and word-of-mouth engagement through data-driven strategies, resulting in 60% increase in brand mentions</li><li>Managed a cross-functional team of 5 people from the Growth, CRM, Sales, and Operations departments and led AI-powered market analysis, identifying 39+ key trends that improved client conversions</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                         |
| Product Marketing Manager, Gowardhan Krushi Ayurved Pvt. Ltd, Full time   India                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | May 20 - Oct 21  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Exceeded sales targets by 48% by conducting clear product positioning and value proposition for the target market, defining buyer personas, full GTM execution across digital channels, conducting market analysis, and collaborating with cross-functional teams</li><li>Generated 65% growth in online community engagement and managed digital marketing campaigns</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                         |
| Digital Marketing &amp; Growth Strategy Consultant, Self-employed   France                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | May 17 - Present |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Increased organic visibility by 18% on average for brands by leading a 5-person team to execute data-driven AI-powered SEO, AEO, GEO, content marketing, and performance analytics strategy, optimizing campaigns- SEM, PPC, email, and social media to optimize business outcomes</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                         |

CERTIFICATIONS

|                                                                             |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Biomarketing, POLIMI Graduate School of Management (Milan, Italy)    | Mar - Apr 2025 |
| DELFI A1, Alliance Française (Delhi, India)                          | Sept 2023      |
| Bloomberg Finance Fundamentals, Bloomberg Education (Nantes, France) | Apr 2025       |

LANGUAGE AND CORE COMPETENCIES

English: Fluent | Hindi: Fluent | French: Conversational- B2 Level (learning and progressing towards fluency)

Business Analytics & Data Visualization: Power BI, MS Office Suite, Canva, Bloomberg, Figma

Marketing Automation: CMS, CRM, analytics tools & SEO: Google Analytics, Google Ads, SEMrush, Ahrefs, Moz, Brevo, HubSpot

INTEREST AND ACHIEVEMENTS

- Personal Branding: First content creator to introduce Yoga-related content on LinkedIn, garnering over 100K organic views and consistently receiving 100+ reactions per post
- Coaching & Business Growth: Mentored 80+ freelancers on personal branding strategies, increasing freelance business revenues by an average of 59%
- Public Policy & Current Affairs Acumen: 4 years of rigorous UPSC preparation with deep understanding of Indian & global political economy, governance frameworks, regulatory landscapes, and macroeconomic trends